Cashify eyes growth with D2C play

AYANTI BERA Bengaluru, December 24

REFURBISHED ELECTRONICS SELLER Cashify has rejigged its business model to focus on selling directly to consumers through its physical stores and website...

“Earlier in our business, a large part was sold to merchants who would then sell it to consumers. But over the last two years, we have set up our own retail stores and e-commerce platform. Today, about 55-60% of our revenue is coming from direct-to-consumer (D2C) sales, which gives us a larger margin pie and has

SHIFT IN STRATEGY

■ Cashify has managed to reduce losses by 63% in FY24 to ₹53 crore, while increasing revenue by 14.4% to ₹935 crore
■ Firm intends to bring down the share of revenue for smartphones to 75-80% going ahead, from the current 92% automation in testing processes in its repair centers, and other efficiencies in its supply chain. The focus on D2C sales has also improved its margins to around 25%, compared to much thinner margins in B2B sales. In FY24, Cashify improved its Ebitda margins to -3.98% from -15.87% in FY23. To further scale up its D2C business, Cashify plans to open 200 more stores in the next two years to add to its current network of 192 stores. It will also focus on scaling categories besides smartphones, such as refurbished laptops, tablets, and smartwatches. The firm intends to bring down the share of revenue for smartphones to 75-80% going ahead, from 92%.

Swiggy targets 100K female delivery partners by 2030

SURENDER NEGI New Delhi, December 24

FOOD DELIVERY MAJOR Swiggy plans to have at least 100,000 female delivery partners by 2030, according to company MD and group CEO Sriharsha Majety.

Majety, while speaking at an event at the NSE headquarters on Tuesday, added that more women delivery partners on the road is a positive signal. Swiggy has joined hands with NSE to roll out a financial literacy programme, with special focus on female delivery partners. “Earlier this year, when we launched ‘She the Change’ programme, finance minister Nirma Sitharaman, made a very pertinent observation when she said that in areas where women are visibly seen to be running more enterprises such as food and beverage businesses, crime and anarchy will gradually reduce. I believe that the presence of women delivery partners on the road is an equally positive signal.” “We, at Swiggy, will do our utmost in this direction; and commit to take the number of women delivery partners to at least 100,000 by 2030. We will continue to come out with policies and programmes to support this positive change, and our MoU with NSE is a step in this direction,” Majety said. The latest initiative with NSE will be integrated into Swiggy’s flagship initiatives, ‘She the Change’ and ‘Swiggy Skills’, and will help equip the delivery partners with vital financial skills that drive household stability. The programme will feature interactive training sessions led by Sebi-certified trainers, covering topics such as budgeting, investments, debt management, and understanding capital markets. In March 2024, Swiggy launched the She the Change-From Vision to Venture programme to commemorate nearly a decade of working with women entrepreneurs and focus on both budding and established women entrepreneurs in the Food & Beverage (F&B) industry. “This partnership with Swiggy reflects our commitment to equipping delivery partners, especially female partners, with the knowledge and awareness of tools needed for financial independence and long-term security,” said Ashishkumar Chauhan, MD & CEO, NSE.

Ola enters grocery delivery biz again

RAGHAV AGGARWAL New Delhi, December 24

BHAVISH AGGARWAL-LED OLA has announced its entry into the quick delivery space for groceries with “Ola Grocery”. In a social media post, the firm said the service is live across India. “Everyday essentials and groceries at your doorstep in just 10 minutes. Ola Grocery is now live across India,” it said. However, it doesn’t seem to be live in Delhi and Mumbai at the moment. This is the third time Ola is experimenting with grocery delivery. In 2015, the firm launched an online grocery store in Bengaluru. However, it was shut down just nine months into operations. Then in 2021, Ola introduced Ola Dash for quick delivery of groceries in Mumbai and Bengaluru. In 2022, it decided to shut down Ola Dash. However, this time it seems to have entered quick commerce via Open Network for Digital Commerce-Centre’s open protocol which allows buyers and sellers to interact regardless of the platform they’re using. This is a unlike other companies in the space which are using their own network for q-commerce.

THIRD TRY

■ In 2021, Ola introduced Ola Dash for quick delivery of groceries in Mumbai and Bengaluru
■ Ola has also started piloting its 10-minute food delivery in Bengaluru through ONDC

Ola had in August this year rebranded Ola Cabs to Ola Consumer, in a bid to cover more consumer services. It also showcased its automated “dark stores”, small retail warehouses to store goods for quick deliveries. Aggarwal said that these dark stores will have robots to reduce human involvement. “These dark stores will be available for all kiranas and brands in the ONDC network and not just for Ola,” Aggarwal said. The firm is also eyeing an IPO in the coming months and turned into a public limited company last month. Of late, the quick delivery space has seen a wide interest from consumers as well as investors. Zomato’s Blinkit, Swiggy Instamart and Zepto have raised billions of dollars, with Blinkit even turning EBIT positive. Recently, e-commerce giants Flipkart and Amazon have also announced their foray into the q-commerce space in India. Apart from quick commerce, quick food delivery space has also seen major developments in the last few weeks. In line with that, Ola has also started piloting its 10-minute food delivery in Bengaluru through ONDC, aiming to compete with Zepto’s Cafe, Swiggy’s Bolt and Zomato’s Bistro.

SaaS firm LeadSquared looks to turn profitable by FY26

S SHANTHI Bengaluru, December 24

LEADSQUARED, A BENGALURU-BASED SaaS unicorn, is setting its sights on profitability by FY26, despite past challenges stemming from the downturn in the edtech sector. The firm also aims to achieve IPO-readiness by next fiscal, marking a critical milestone in its growth journey. In FY24, LeadSquared reported revenue of ₹279.3 crore, reflecting a modest 9% growth over FY23. However, its net losses widened slightly to ₹162.2 crore from ₹161 crore the previous year. Co-founder and COO Prashant Singh attributed past setbacks to heavy reliance on edtech clients and investment in the US market. “Diversifying our customer base across industries has been key to de-risking the business,” Singh said. The firm now caters to over 2,000 clients, including Cred, Manipal Hospitals, Bajaj Auto, and UpGrad, spanning industries like BFSI, healthcare, manufacturing, and real estate. Singh acknowledged that LeadSquared’s focus shifted towards the US market post-Series C funding in June 2022, when the company raised $153 million at a $1 billion valuation. “While our frugal

Rise in active mobile users indicates tariff hike absorption

URVI MALVANIA Mumbai, December 24

THE INDUSTRYWIDE addition of 6.8 million active users in October 2024 suggests that the industry has more or less absorbed the tariff hikes taken in July this year, experts said analysing the latest telecom subscriber data released by the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (Trai). “The sector’s active subscribers jumped sharply in October after three months of volatility due to price hikes. Since the tariff hikes undertaken in July 2024, active subscriber base has increased by ~5.7mn, suggesting that market has absorbed the price hikes,” analysts from Jefferies said. The increase in active subscriber base was driven by Jio (+3.8 mn), Bharti Airtel (+2.7 mn) & BSNL/MTNL (+0.8 mn), and was partially offset by subscriber fall in VIL (-0.7 mn).

While Jio and Voda Idea continued to register subscriber loss in October, Airtel posted net additions after three months by private telcos earlier this year is behind the industry is the slowdown in the industry wide churn seen in October at 3.3 million (as compared to 10.1 million in September), analysts added. While industry wide churn reduced significantly month on month, Bharti Airtel was the only private telco to add subscribers (1.9 million) while Reliance Jio (-3.8 million) and Vodafone Idea (-2 million) continued to lose users. “Bharti led the data subscriber additions in October gaining market share, and showcasing better and premium customer mix of Bharti,” Jefferies analysts said.

Vodafone Idea in its September quarter earnings call had indicated that port-outs to BSNL had started declining in the month of October as well. Another indicator that the impact of the rate hikes taken
